Additional information

Are you passionate about local history? Legacy West Midlands have a wide range of heritage projects and events that would love to welcome passionate volunteers to join! If you enjoy researching, we would love your help in assisting with any of our upcoming events. If you have a particular fascination with Birmingham history, we have brilliant heritage walks exploring local history right here in Handsworth. This is a brilliant way for any aspiring historians to understand how the heritage sector work, or even if you simply enjoy history.
